lavery
Lawyers

Can a foreign court compel the examination of witnesses and the production of documents located in Quebec?

November 1, 2006

Assuming that a foreign court exercises the power to issue letters rogatory or to appoint a commission to examine a witness in Quebec and to ask him to produce some documents, how can that be carried out in Quebec and is there a "blocking statute" protecting some of the documents? We invite you to read our newsletter on the subject.

Copyright (c) Lavery, de Billy, S.E.N.C.R.L. - L.L.P.