

Sophie Roy

Senior Associate

Sophie Roy is part of the firm's Litigation group. She practises primarily insurance, product liability, and professional liability law. She is responsible for a number of different files in which she acts for both the plaintiff and the defendant.

Called to the Bar in 2013, Me Roy began her practice in the legal department of an insurance company, following which she worked at a civil and commercial litigation boutique law firm, and joined Lavery's Litigation group in 2017. She provides legal opinions on a variety of issues, in particular related to insurance coverage.

She often appears before the Superior Court and the Court of Québec and has also participated in several successful settlement conferences.

Distinctions

■ Ones to Watch, The Best Lawyers in Canada in the field of Insurance Law, since 2024

Education

■ LL.B., Université de Sherbrooke, 2011

Boards and Professional Affiliations

■ Young Bar Association of Montréal

