

Roxane Fortin Lecompte

Articling Student

Roxane Fortin Lecompte joined the Lavery team as a student in the summer of 2017 and will article with the firm in 2019. She received her Bachelor of Law from Université Laval in 2014. She completed a Master in E-Commerce, specialization in information technology law, at HEC and Université de Montreal in 2018.

During her graduate studies, she worked with Professor Vincent Gautrais for the L.R. Wilson research chair, in particular on issues relative to technological proof and privacy.

While a law student, Roxane acted as a mentor for the Juripop moot court competition, and was a teaching assistant with the Université Laval law student tutoring program. She also participated in several faculty Face-à-Face debates.
