

Camille Ouellet

Associate

For many years, Camille Ouellet has acted on behalf of public, para-public and private employers in all areas of labour, employment and occupational health and safety law.

She frequently lends her expert opinion to cases involving medical issues, such as disability and absenteeism. In her practice, Camille assists and advises a number of employers in managing occupational injury cases, both in terms of compensation and of financing the CNESST plan.

She acts and pleads before civil and administrative courts, including the Administrative Labour Tribunal (ALT).

Distinctions

■ Dean's Honour Roll, Academic Excellence, 2016 and 2017

Education

■ LL.B., cooperative program, Université de Sherbrooke, 2018

