

Alain Y. Dussault is a partner, lawyer and trade-mark agent in Lavery's intellectual property group. He practices mainly in intellectual property litigation and has extensive experience in patents, trade-marks, copyrights and industrial designs litigations.

He acted in several high-profile intellectual property litigations, including multijurisdictional litigation for clients in various industries, such as: pharmaceutical, food, electronics, forest and entertainment.

He has represented prestigious clients in complex litigation before the Québec Courts, Federal Courts and the Supreme Court of Canada. He regularly advises his clients regarding the registration, the management and the protection of their intellectual property.

Alain has acquired considerable experience in anti-counterfeiting matters, including the execution of Anton Piller orders. He regularly represents several multinational companies in the field of fashion, cosmetics and consumer products.

His extensive knowledge of IP law, as well as his accessibility and his practical approach, are particularly appreciated by his clients.
