

Anne-Sophie Paradis

Articling Student

Anne-Sophie Paradis joined the Lavery team as a student in 2021 and will be articling with the firm in 2024. She obtained a Bachelor of Laws from the Université de Montréal and completed graduate studies in communications and public relations.

During her studies, Anne-Sophie was actively involved with the l'Association des étudiantes et étudiants en droit de l'Université de Montréal as Vice-President, Communications for 2021-2022. She has also been involved with the PROFIL legal clinic, which offers a legal information service to professionals trained abroad to facilitate their integration into the Quebec labour market.

Anne-Sophie has had the opportunity to work for an arbitrator specializing in labour and employment law. Given her interest in communications and public relations, she has also held various positions with a boutique firm providing legal advice on business-related matters, corporate reputation management and communications.
