

William Bolduc

Associate

William practises with the firm's Administrative Law Group. Although he is an administrative law generalist, most of his mandates involve municipal law. William also has a keen interest in constitutional law.

William was able to complete high school as an exchange student in Onomichi (Hiroshima, Japan), before continuing his education in Champlain St-Lawrence College.

With this experience, the opportunity arose to work in the western part of Canada and in Japan, but this time in Tokyo. Having joined a marketing company, William participated in many major events across the metropolitan area of Tokyo, including cultural and sporting events. Happy to be back in Quebec City and to have the opportunity to study law, William is proud to join the Lavery family to be able to put his international experience to good use in his home region.

Professional and community activities

- Japan-Canada Academic Consortium, Fukuoka, University of Alberta, 2020
- Self-employed translator (French, English, Japanese), 2018-2020
- AFS Interculture Canada, 2016-2018, Volunteer

Education

- LL.B., Laval University, 2022

