

Cities and Towns: failure to give notice can no longer be raised as a defence against claims for damages resulting from bodily injuries

May 1, 1995

Cities and Towns: failure to give notice can no longer be raised as a defence against claims for damages resulting from bodily injuries