lavery
Lawyers

The policyholder and the insurer may agree to unilaterally modify the provisions of a group insurance policy

June 1, 2012

The La Capitale ruling had been expected since 2009, when the Superior Court authorized a class action against an insurer who had unilaterally modified the waiver of premiums clause in a group insurance contract in 2001.

Copyright (c) Lavery, de Billy, S.E.N.C.R.L. - L.L.P.