The British Columbia Supreme Court confirms that municipalities have no duty to consult and accommodate Aboriginal peoples

July 1, 2012

On April 4, 2012, the British Columbia Supreme Court rendered its decision in the case Neskonlith Indian Band v. Salmon Arm (City) and therein confirmed that municipalities have no duty to consult and accommodate Aboriginal peoples.

Copyright (c) Lavery, de Billy, S.E.N.C.R.L. - L.L.P.