lavery
Lawyers

COVID-19: Update on Canadian IP

March 18, 2020

Authors

Serge Shahinian

Partner, Patent Agent

Isabelle Jomphe

Partner, Lawyer Partner, and Trademark Agent

The Canadian Intellectual Property Office (CIPO) has made a further announcement concerning the extension of deadlines, to the effect that deadlines falling within March 16 to April 30, 2020 are extended to May 1, 2020.

CIPO is otherwise still open for business and our intellectual property team members have been continuing operations and transacting with CIPO on a regular basis, in a remote and secure manner. Please do not hesitate to contact a member of our IP group should you have any questions.

Rest assured that we remain at your service for all your legal needs, including those required to manage this pandemic, and that we will keep you informed as the situation evolves. We would like to offer our thoughts and support during these challenging times.

Copyright (c) Lavery, de Billy, S.E.N.C.R.L. - L.L.P.